

The Journal of Immunology Manuscript Submission Form

Please read this form carefully, and fax the completed form to 301-634-7831.
Failure to fully complete and return this form will result in the manuscript being returned to the author.

Manuscript Number: _____

Manuscript Title: _____

Corresponding Author Name: _____

Corresponding Author E-mail Address: _____

I. AUTHORSHIP RESPONSIBILITY STATEMENT

In submitting and signing this form, as corresponding author I warrant that:

- All authors have read, and concur with the submission of, this manuscript.
- I accept responsibility for the scientific integrity of the work described in this manuscript.
- I agree to make available to qualified investigators unique materials described in this manuscript.
- Any acknowledgments, personal communications, unpublished observations, and unpublished data have been approved by the individuals cited.
- Any human and/or animal studies have been approved by an appropriate institutional review committee.

II. CONFLICT OF INTEREST STATEMENT

In submitting and signing this form, as corresponding author I hereby affirm the accuracy of all responses that were entered online with the submission of this manuscript, including any explanation of conflict of interest or financial interest provided with such submission.

III. PRIOR PUBLICATION, MANUSCRIPT CONTENT, AND REVIEW OF DATA

As corresponding author, I warrant that the manuscript has not been previously published or submitted elsewhere. If portions have been previously published, I have submitted a copy of the permission release from the appropriate source and have provided a credit line (citation) within the manuscript. I further warrant that no portion of the manuscript, other than an abstract presented at a scientific meeting, has been posted on the Internet.

As corresponding author, I warrant that this manuscript is original, that I have full power to make this claim, that the manuscript contains no libelous or otherwise unlawful matter that invades the right of privacy or infringes any proprietary right, and that the manuscript contains no fabrications, fraud, or plagiarism.

As corresponding author, I hereby authorize The JI and its editors to review the data on which the article is based. In addition, I agree, upon reasonable request of the editors of The JI, to provide any such data or to assist the editors in obtaining such data.

IV. TRANSFER AND ASSIGNMENT OF COPYRIGHT (U.S. government employees see part V.2.)

As corresponding author, and with the consent of all authors, I hereby transfer and assign to The American Association of Immunologists, Inc. (AAI), publisher of The Journal of Immunology (The JI), or its successors, the copyright interest in the above cited manuscript and all supplemental data submitted in relation thereto, for use by AAI in all forms and media (including, but not limited to, print and electronic format), including those forms and media now or hereafter protected by the Copyright Laws of the United States and all foreign countries. The authors retain the right to use all or part of the manuscript in future works of their own in a noncompeting way and to post the article on their personal Web sites, provided that they obtain permission from AAI and proper copyright credit is given to AAI.

The authors will receive no royalty or other monetary compensation for the assignment of copyright set forth in this agreement.

Should AAI not publish the aforesaid paper, AAI agrees to release its rights therein.

NIH PUBLIC ACCESS POLICY***

As of April 7, 2008, the U.S. National Institutes of Health (NIH) requires that manuscripts accepted for publication which describe research that is funded by NIH be deposited into the NIH PubMed Central repository ("PubMed Central"). The NIH Public Access Policy became law through the passage of the Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2008.

AAI views this Policy as a costly, duplicative effort that diverts federal dollars from biomedical research. Despite AAI's serious concerns about this Policy, AAI has developed a process to enable all affected authors publishing in The JI to comply with the NIH Policy.** AAI will grant a limited one-time waiver permitting authors to deposit an accepted manuscript into PubMed Central, provided that the corresponding author:

1. instructs the NIH to release the manuscript to the public no sooner than 12 months after final publication in The JI;
2. understands that this one-time waiver applies solely to deposition into PubMed Central and agrees not to deposit the manuscript to any other repository, agency, or entity; and
3. includes in the text of the manuscript abstract submitted to PubMed Central the following disclaimer:

"This is an author-produced version of a manuscript accepted for publication in The Journal of Immunology (The JI). The American Association of Immunologists, Inc. (AAI), publisher of The JI, holds the copyright to this manuscript. This manuscript has not yet been copyedited or subjected to editorial proofreading by The JI; hence it may differ from the final version published in The JI (online and in print). AAI (The JI) is not liable for errors or omissions in this author-produced version of the manuscript or in any version derived from it by the United States National Institutes of Health or any other third party. The final, citable version of record can be found at www.jimmunol.org."

V. SIGNATURE

1. If none of the authors is a United States government employee, corresponding author sign here:

I, the undersigned corresponding author, agree to all terms and conditions set forth in this document:

Signature: _____ Date: _____

2. If one or more of the authors is a United States government employee, corresponding author sign here:

I attest that the above article was written as part of the official duties of one or more of the author(s) as employee(s) of the U.S. government and that a transfer and assignment of copyright under Part IV (above) cannot be made. I agree to the terms and conditions set forth in Parts I, II and III (above).

I further agree that if this manuscript is accepted for publication in The JI, AAI has the right to publish it in any media (including, but not limited to, print and electronic format).

Signature: _____ Date: _____

* Authors funded by agencies/organizations that mandate submission to NIH PubMed Central at less than 12 months should contact infoji@aai.org for forms.

**For more information and for Frequently Asked Questions about The JI policy, go to <http://www.jimmunol.org/misc/nihpolicyaccesspolicy.shtml>